

CASE STUDY

Caversham Heights Methodist Church

Caversham Heights is an established Methodist Church in Caversham, Reading. The church supports the local community with various activity groups, sessions and religious services.

Appliances in the kitchen

Smeg Dishwasher (CW522SD)

Smeg Foodservice recently developed a successful partnership with Luton-based commercial kitchen specialists Roland Allen to provide an appropriate warewashing solution for the Caversham Heights Methodist Church in Reading.

Talking about the project, Steven Wright, Roland Allen's director, says, "This is the first time that we have worked with Smeg and the relationship came about after I contacted Smeg's Martin Dawson asking about what Smeg could offer.

"The church was looking for a quality, reliable dishwasher that could step up to the occasional large celebrations that bring larger congregations and groups like Christmas and Easter, but also be easy to use and have plenty of space for the ubiquitous cups and saucers that come out on Sundays and a couple of other days in the week.

"I have to say the Smeg CW522SD dishwasher that was chosen for the church fits the bill perfectly, especially with its two tray option and easy to use controls. Working with Martin was a pleasure and we now have several Smeg warewashers available in our stock."

Since placing the first dishwasher, the Church has placed other machines across various locations.

